

AFPC Fellow in Indo-Pacific Studies Michael Sobolik quoted in National Review Online article

June 11, 2021

Related Categories: Economic Sanctions; China

Related Expert: Michael Sobolik

Michael Sobolik, a fellow at the American Foreign Policy Council, called the omission of such a provision in the order “curious. It’s possible that the White House will issue an additional order to include a divestment requirement,” he said. “But the natural question to that is, why not just include that now in the first one, because this executive order is pretty clear that it nullifies the previous executive orders on this subject.”

Read the rest of the article here.