

afpc@afpc.org

202-543-1006

AREAS OF EXPERTISE

ENERGY SECURITY

RADICAL ISLAM

SOUTH ASIA POLITICS AND SECURITY

AFFILIATED PROGRAMS

Asian Security Program

China Program

James Clad

DIRECTOR OF ASIAN SECURITY PROGRAMS AND SENIOR FELLOW FOR ASIA

James Clad joined the American Foreign Policy Council in October 2017 as Director of Asian Security Programs and Senior Fellow for Asia. Previously, from 2002 to 2010, he served as U.S. Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Asia Pacific Security Affairs, as professor of Near East/South Asia studies at the National Defense University, and as Senior Counselor to the Overseas Private Investment Corporation. From 1995-2002, he held a Henry Luce Foundation professorship at Georgetown University and was Director, Asia Pacific Energy, for Cambridge Energy Research Associates.

Clad's commentary may be found in traditional media outlets (NPR, C-SPAN, the BBC and Financial Times), in prominent foreign affairs journals such as The National Interest, and in subscription news services such as 'Inside Sources' and 'The Hill'. He has published books on Asian capitalism and political geography (The Borderlands of Southeast Asia: Geopolitics, Terrorism, and Globalization, National Defense University Press, 2011). In mid-2018, he co-authored a report, on China's advanced weapons research, for the Congressional U.S.-China Economic and Security Review Commission (China's Advanced Weapons Systems, May 2018).

RELATED NEWS & EVENTS

November 10, 2018 | Media

AFPC Director of Asian Security Programs James Clad comments on global response to Myanmar rights violations

October 25, 2018 | Event

AFPC Asia Security Program Briefing: "Cutting Pakistan Adrift: Can it be done?"

April 20, 2018 | Media

AFPC Experts in Indonesia

April 15, 2018 | Event

AFPC's Ilan Berman and James Clad Explore Indonesia's Religious "Middle Way"

RELATED PUBLICATIONS

November 30, 2018 | E-JOURNAL

The North Korean Threat Revisited

November 27, 2018 | ARTICLE

The Perilous State of America's Defense Industry

November 14, 2018 | ARTICLE

Market Meltdown: How OPEC Is Projected to Change

August 6, 2018 | ARTICLE

Energy Dominance Is Within Trump's Grasp